

ABSTRACT

A folder for holding a sheet includes two panels interconnected by strap systems that form two different hinges as the panels are folded over each other. The straps and panels form pockets for storing the sheet.